

What do you see on your desktop?

Your desktop shows the status of the course feedbacks form. It can be one of the following:

- Active + Give feedback
- The answering period has started: shows how many days there are left to fill in the feedback form
- Feedback report can be read + Show the report
- The answering period has ended: you can open a summary of the rating scale questions' answers.
- Response to the feedback can be read + Show the report
- The answering period has ended and the teacher has responded to the feedback: you can open the summary report and read the teacher's response.

If you cannot see any study modules in the front page view, this means that

- you do not have any active surveys you can fill in and that
- you have not filled in any surveys that have a summary report or the teacher's response for you to read.

If you did not give any feedback during the answering period, the study module will automatically be removed from the front page list at the end of the answering period
