In Pulmu the student fills in a thesis topic application and sends it for approval to the person added in the "Application handler" section. The student will search for the person's name according to the instructions given by his/her own department. This person will receive an e-mail concerning the student's application and, through a link in the e-mail, will provide the student's application with a supervisor and a language consultant and will also be able to approve or return the application. E-mail is sent to both the student and the supervising teacher.
