

3.3.3 Professional and popular channels

The Publication Forum does not classify channels targeted at professional or general audiences. If the boundary is not clear, channels for professionals and the general public can be evaluated by the panels. If the panels find that such channels are not scientific publication series or book publishers, they will be transferred to a separate list of professional and general publication channels.