

4.1 Publication Forum coverage

The Publication Forum includes active publication channels that specialise in the publishing of research results and are relevant from the point of view of Finnish research. The classification thus covers the leading and internationally renowned journals/series and book publishers of the various disciplines as widely as possible, but national and local publication channels in different countries can be limited to those used by or relevant to Finnish researchers.